OBJECT

Have the most points by collecting concert tickets and memorabilia while traveling around North America to eight Naked Brothers Band concerts.

Set up

1. Lay out the gameboard so that all players can access it.
2. Separate the Rest Stop cards, the City cards, and the Travel cards. Also separate each type of concert ticket.
3. Shuffle and draw 8 City cards and place them in the order you draw them face up from left to right. These are the concerts for the game. For a four-player game, place a General Admission, then a Box Seats, and finally a Front Row seat ticket on each concert. For three players, do not use the General Admission tickets. For a two player game use only the Front Row tickets. These tickets should be in order with the top value on top and the lowest value on bottom.
4. Place the cardboard pawns into the pawn stands. Each player should take the pawn they would like to be.
5. Each player draws a City card and places their pawn on that city. This is where they will start the game from.

6. Shuffle and place the Travel card deck where all players can reach it, or decide to pass the card deck on each turn, or designate an official card turner for the game.

7. Shuffle and place the Rest Stop card deck where all can reach it.

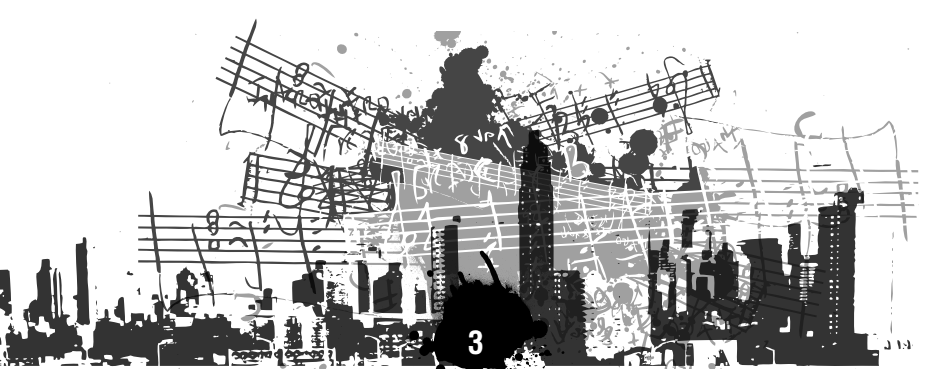

HOW TO PLAY

On your turn, you're trying to get to the next concert city to get the best seats possible. Concerts must be played in the order they are on the board, and all tickets from the first concert must be taken before the next concert can make its tickets available, and so on.

To move your bus toward a concert city, draw a travel card and place it faceup so all can see. If it is a move card, there will be a white bus on the card. You can move your bus the number of spaces the white bus indicates. If there are other buses on the card, that color bus also gets to move. If your colored bus also happens to be on the card, then you may move again. Buses are moved in the order they are on the card. In a two or three player game, ignore any buses not being played. If you happen to end your move on the same space as another player, then jump ahead to the next space. In some cases, the player who drew the card will also get to move another player's bus. These are wrong turn cards. Any special instructions will be on the cards.

Sometimes a card will have special instructions, such as move to any city, or swap tickets with another player. In these cases instead of moving this turn, just do what the card says.

Once you begin to move in a direction, you cannot backtrack on the same road. The only exception is in the case where a card you draw has your color bus on it as well. These are considered two different moves. They must be done in the correct order on the card.

SPECIAL SPACES

There are two types of Special Spaces on the game path – city spaces and rest areas. You can stop your movement at any time on these spaces, even if you have more moves on the card. This ends your move.

City spaces:

These are where the concerts happen. In a four-player game, there are three tickets up for grabs. The concerts take place in the indicated city, and in the order that they are on the gameboard. Tickets for concerts are only available if the previous concert tickets have all been taken. When you land on a city that has concert tickets available, take the top ticket available there. You can only get one concert ticket per city.

If you are on a city space, and the concert tickets there become available because someone has gotten the general admission seats on the previous concert, you immediately get the front row seats there. However, you must move on every turn that a card is drawn that has your bus on it. You must move the full amount unless you go into a rest stop or a city. In other words, you can't just sit in the next city and wait for tickets to go on sale. If there happens to be more than one player in a city where tickets become available, the tickets are distributed according to who was there first.

Rest Stops: Sometimes you run into the NBB while they are on tour. If you stop in a rest area, you may run into a band member, and who knows? Maybe you'll get their autograph, write a song with them, or find a valuable collectible that they left behind!

Any cards that have value (rest stop or concert tickets) you should keep in front of you to add up at the end of the game.
